CARING FOR DISABLED

Federal Vocational Board Provides For 350 Maryland Veterans.

MANY LEARNING PROFESSIONS

And Are Being Paid $80 To $150 A Month While Being Taught To Overcome Handicaps.

Approximately 350 wounded and disabled Maryland veterans of the war, including one woman, are being taught trades and professions at the Government's expense, according to a dispatch from The Sun's Washington Bureau. A list of these veterans was given yesterday to Senator John Walter Smith, of Maryland, by the Federal Board of Vocational Education as an answer to criticisms which have been made to the effect that the Government is not attending adequately to the work of rehabilitating its disabled war veterans. Similar lists containing the names of veterans of other States who are being cared for have been supplied to other members of Congress.

In addition to bearing the cost of the training the Government is paying these wards from $80 to $150 a month during their period of instruction. The disabled veterans have been placed in various universities, colleges, schools, business houses and industries where they are being taught with the greatest care those things which will enable them, according to the extent of their physical disabilities the means of earning a livelihood.

Nurse Disabled By Overwork.

The woman in the list is Miss Julia Cordia Foley, of Loch Haven, who is being instructed in a commercial course at the Baltimore Business College and receiving instruction in French and Spanish at the Berlitz School of Languages. Miss Foley, who was a trained nurse before the war, enlisted in the army February 12, 1918, and received her discharge July 10, 1919. While nursing the wounded at Evacuation Hospital No. 21, at Bazoilles-Sur-Meuse, France, Miss Foley broke down from exposure and overwork and developed pulmonary trouble. During her course of instruction Miss Foley is receiving $80 a month and is under the care of physicians of the United States Public Health Service.

The names of the Maryland veterans being cared for, with their home addresses and the institutions where they are receiving training, follow:
